Zeitoun By Dave Eggers

In ZEITOUN, David Eggers has written a remarkable true story of one man's struggle to both survive and make a difference in an atmosphere of devastation and official incompetence. In reviewing this book, I'll be struggling against the use of superlatives and glowing adjectives, the bane of those who evaluate the worthiness of another person's writing.

Zeitoun Summary. Zeitoun is set in New Orleans, Louisiana, and begins with the protagonist Abdulrahman Zeitoun (known by his last name) and his wife Kathy preparing to send their children Nademah, Aisha, and Safiya to school. Kathy's son from her first marriage, Zachary, is already there. The couple bickers, with Kathy growing frustrated by Zeitoun's stubbornness about everything, but they clearly have a loving relationship.

Zeitoun by Dave Eggers Plot Summary | LitCharts

Dave Eggers also fits Zeitoun into a broader historical context of changes taking place in the country after the terrorist attacks of September 11th. Anti-Muslim sentiment skyrocketed, and because of the Patriot Act, government officials had much more freedom to detain and question anyone suspected to be linked to terrorism—even if that suspicion had only to do with a person's religion or ethnicity.
